French Theater Workshop
FRE 211 / THR 211

Instructors:
Florent Masse

FRE/THR 211 will offer students the opportunity to put their language skills in motion by exploring French theater and acting in French. The course will introduce students to acting techniques while allowing them to discover the richness of the French dramatic canon. Particular emphasis will be placed on improving students' speaking skills through pronunciation and diction exercises. At the end of the semester, the course will culminate in the presentation of the students' work.

Prerequisites and Restrictions: FRE 108, or equivalent. FRE 207 or 208 recommended as a co-requisite. Course is conducted entirely in French. Course is open to first year students.

Other Information: Two class sessions supplemented by one weekly one-hour private rehearsal and supervised attendance of some theater plays and events. We will read overviews of French theater, scenes, and five full-length plays. Students will work on two scenes.
